Senate Resolution 1055 By: Senators Mullis of the 53rd, Thomas of the 54th and Tate of the 38th

AS PASSED

A RESOLUTION

Dedicating certain portions of the state highway system; and for other purposes.

PART I

WHEREAS, Joel A. Katz is considered to be a definitive leader in the field of entertainment law; and

WHEREAS, more than 30 years ago, he founded Katz, Smith & Cohen, which became one of the nation's largest entertainment law firms; and

WHEREAS, his earliest clients included James Brown and a then unknown Willie Nelson and the client roster grew to include B.B. King, George Strait, Jimmy Buffet, Sheryl Crow, Sammy Hagar, Kenny Chesney, Alan Jackson, James Taylor, Josh Groban, and Brooks and Dunn; and

WHEREAS, in 1998, he merged his firm with the international law firm Greenberg Traurig and took on the position of co-managing shareholder of the Atlanta office; and

WHEREAS, Katz also serves as a music industry representative for the State of Georgia Film, Video, and Music Advisory Commission, appointed by Governor Sonny Perdue; and

WHEREAS, in 1995, he was inducted into the Georgia Music Hall of Fame as the first and only attorney ever to receive that honor; and

WHEREAS, in 2002, he received the "Heroes Award" from the Atlanta chapter of The Recording Academy and Georgia Trend magazine named him as one of the 100 most influential Georgians; and

WHEREAS, Katz received his law degree from the University of Tennessee in 1969 and in 1999, the newly constructed law library was named in his honor.

PART II

WHEREAS, Jere C. Ayers, a lifelong resident of Madison County, died on May 13, 2005, at the age of 91; and

WHEREAS, "Mr. Jere," as he was known to all, was a uniquely dedicated and valued citizen of Madison County whose contributions to the public good and civic life of the county are too numerous to list in their entirety; and

WHEREAS, among Mr. Jere's accomplishments are his service in the United States Navy during World War II; his lifelong work in journalism, beginning with his employment as a youth at The Comer News, which his parents purchased in 1914 and of which he became owner and publisher in 1945, and his later service as the owner and publisher of Madison County Newspapers, Inc., The Comer News, and the Danielsville Monitor; his dedication to the Meadow Baptist Church where he served over 50 years as a deacon and 23 years as Sunday school director; his over 50 years of service as a Mason, Scottish Rite and York Rite; his 67 years with the Woodsmen of the World; his charter membership in the Madison County Rotary Club; his membership in the American Legion since World War II; his charter membership in the Comer Lions Club which honored him with its 50 Year Award; his service as a member of the Georgia House of Representatives in the 1950's; being the recipient of the 50 Year Medallion from the Georgia Press Association for 50 years of service to the newspaper industry; his service as a board member of the Madison County Library until his retirement; and his critical role in the acquisition of the Watson Mill Bridge State Park land; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Jere will be greatly missed by the citizens of Madison County for the vital role that he played in the county and for his stellar example of public service and commitment; and

WHEREAS, he diligently and conscientiously devoted innumerable hours of his time, talents, and energy toward the betterment of his community, state, and nation; and

WHEREAS, his significant organizational and leadership talents, his remarkable patience and diplomacy, his keen sense of vision, and his sensitivity to the needs of the citizens of his nation earned him the respect and admiration of his colleagues and associates; and WHEREAS, he was a person of magnanimous strengths with an unimpeachable reputation for integrity, intelligence, fairness, and kindness, and it is only fitting and proper that a lasting memorial should be named in his honor.

PART III

WHEREAS, the American Camellia Society has been in existence for over 60 years and is recognized as the leading camellia organization in the United States; and

WHEREAS, the Executive Director, Sandra Byrd, the staff, and the National Board of the American Camellia Society are proud of the contributions of all who have given of their time and support to the facility since its establishment in 1968 through a generous gift of 160 acres by the late Dr. Dave Strother; and

WHEREAS, the purposes of this nonprofit corporation, as stated in its articles of incorporation, are to promote interest in the genus Camellia L., scientific research in its culture, standardization of its varietal names, certification of new varieties, dissemination of information concerning the above, creation of a foundation to further these purposes, and promotion of the organization and affiliation of local Camellia Societies in the United States; and

WHEREAS, the mission of the American Camellia Society is to be a self-sufficient, national membership society committed to continually building its membership through offering world-class products, leading in camellia research and education, and being supported by efficient and effective organizational systems; and

WHEREAS, the American Camellia Society also owns and maintains a self-sufficient, public garden at Massee Lane in Fort Valley, Georgia, serving camellia lovers nationally as well as residents of the region and tourists; and

WHEREAS, during its 40 years of existence at Massee Lane Gardens, the society has provided a public garden, which has enriched the lives of countless Georgians and tourists who have visited the grounds in Peach County.

PART IV

WHEREAS, the states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Nevada, and Arizona have already dedicated the portions of US 80 within their borders in honor of the veterans of the Korean War; and

WHEREAS, US 80 runs from Columbus to Savannah, spanning the entire state of Georgia; and

WHEREAS, hundreds of thousands of men and women served in the Korean War and over 34,000 died and over 100,000 were wounded in combat; and

WHEREAS, despite the bitter cold and torturous terrain, these young Americans were the first to stand up against the threat of Communism; and

WHEREAS, many citizens of the State of Georgia bravely fought in the Korean War, proudly serving their country as members of the armed forces, with many suffering injury and loss of life and limb as a result of their service; and

WHEREAS, Georgia takes great pride in these brave and honorable men and women who demonstrated their love for this country through their service; and

WHEREAS, the many Georgia veterans who served in the armed forces of this nation during the Korean War distinguished themselves and contributed substantially to this state in other ways as well; and

WHEREAS, this tribute to Georgia's Korean War veterans is long overdue and it is only fitting that this state honor them with this lasting memorial.

PART V

WHEREAS, Justice Clarence Thomas was born June 23, 1948, in Pin Point, Georgia, an enclave of 500 inhabitants south of Savannah on the Moon River. Named after the plantation that once stood on the land, Pin Point was divided up after the Civil War and given to the former slaves. It is easy to miss the tiny community where Clarence Thomas once lived; however, there is a sign at the turnoff noting that he was born there; and

WHEREAS, Justice Thomas was the second child and first son of Leola Williams and M. C. Thomas. His father abandoned the family when Thomas was two. After the wooden house they lived in burned down and their mother remarried, Thomas and his brother went to live with their grandfather, Myers Anderson, in Savannah; and

WHEREAS, Anderson had a profound influence on Thomas's upbringing and character. In a time when African Americans were forced to the backs of buses, banned from restaurants, and denied employment opportunities, Anderson decided the only way to beat racism was to work for himself. As a result, he was able to provide his grandsons with a comfortable home, including things most people take for granted, such as three meals a day and indoor plumbing; and

WHEREAS, Anderson admonished his grandsons to work hard in school. After school, Thomas and his brother worked for their grandfather making fuel deliveries. Thomas often recalls how his grandparents had impressed on him that "school, discipline, hard work and 'right-from-wrong' were of the highest priority"; and

WHEREAS, Justice Thomas married Virginia Lamp, May 30, 1987, and they had one child, Jamal Adeen; and

WHEREAS, after high school, he attended Conception Seminary, 1967-1968; Holy Cross College, A.B. cum laude, Alpha Sigma Nu, Purple Key; and Yale Law School, J.D., 1974; and

WHEREAS, he was nominated by President Bush as Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court and took oath of office October 23, 1991; and

WHEREAS, it is only fitting that Justice Clarence Thomas, who rose from humble beginnings through hard work and discipline, be honored for his great achievements.

PART VI

WHEREAS, PFC Robert Adrian Worthington, 19, of Jackson, Georgia, was assigned to the 4th Battalion, 9th Infantry Regiment, 4th Brigade, 2nd Infantry Division (Stryker Brigade Combat Team), based in Fort Lewis, Washington; and WHEREAS, he died on May 22, 2007, in Taji, Iraq, of wounds sustained when an improvised explosive device detonated near his unit; and

WHEREAS, this courageous soldier, in the spirit of the American patriot, confronted the dangers, privations, and discomforts of wartime service with steadfast resolve, making us as a nation truly proud; and

WHEREAS, all Americans owe a debt of gratitude to the men and women of our armed forces who risk their lives in the defense of freedom and to secure the blessings of liberty for this nation and other peoples of the world.

PART VII

WHEREAS, William Harvey Jewell, Sr., served in the United States Army and was a combat veteran of the Korean War; and

WHEREAS, William Harvey Jewell, Sr., was awarded two Bronze Star Medals, the Korean Service Medal, and the Combat Infantryman's Badge for his service in Korea; and

WHEREAS, following the Korean war, he returned to this area and served as Chief of Police in Willacoochee and Pearson before his passing in 1992; and

WHEREAS, it is fitting and appropriate to honor William Harvey Jewell, Sr., for his service to the United States of America and the State of Georgia by the naming of a lasting memorial in honor and memory of his service.

PART VIII

WHEREAS, Shellie W. Parrish was born in Berrien County, married Lena Taylor of Berrien County, raised his family in Berrien County, and lived his entire life in Berrien County until his passing on June 20, 1970; and

WHEREAS, as a young farmer he employed good business practices and hard work to become one of the largest farmers in Berrien County; and

WHEREAS, he was a very successful farmer, but he was humble and charitable; and

WHEREAS, although he was encouraged by friends and neighbors, he never sought public office, but he was always a leader and a pillar of his community; and

WHEREAS, it is fitting and appropriate to honor Shellie W. Parrish for his exemplary life and service as a husband, father, and citizen of Berrien County with the naming of the SR 37 bridge on the Willacoochee River in his memory.

PART IX

WHEREAS, Mr. Lucius Murphy Jacobs has been an unselfish citizen of Berrien County with an unwavering commitment to helping others in both Berrien and Atkinson counties; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Jacobs has faithfully served the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of Georgia for 50 years, having served as Worshipful Master three times in his local lodge and served in each position of leadership in that lodge at least once; and

WHEREAS, as a Shriner, he is known throughout his community by the annual orange and grapefruit fund raiser to benefit the Shrine Hospitals; and

WHEREAS, he has also served as Fire Chief of the Volunteer Fire Department in his community and participated in numerous community service projects providing leadership and unselfish service to many good causes; and

WHEREAS, it is fitting and appropriate to honor Mr. Lucius Murphy Jacobs for his exemplary life and service as an unselfish and caring citizen of Berrien County by the naming of the US 82/SR 520 bridge on the Willacoochee River in his honor.

PART X

WHEREAS, Virgil T. Barber served in the Third Chemical Battalion assigned to the Third Army, United States Army, from October 17, 1940, until March 26, 1945; and

WHEREAS, Virgil T. Barber served as a medical technician and served in the Sicilian campaign, the Italian campaign, and in France and Germany; and

WHEREAS, he was wounded on January 9, 1944, with a compound fracture in his right leg; and

WHEREAS, Virgil T. Barber was awarded the American Defense Service Medal, the Silver Star, the Purple Heart, the European African Medal, and the Eastern Theatre Medal; and

WHEREAS, it is fitting and appropriate to honor Virgil T. Barber for his service to the United States of America, the State of Georgia, and Berrien County with the naming of the SR 125 bridge on the Willacoochee River in honor of his service.

PART XI

WHEREAS, Hubert F. Comer served in the United States Navy and was assigned to the USS Rich, a destroyer escort during the Normandy invasion in June 1944; and

WHEREAS, the USS Rich hit three German mines off the Normandy coast two days after the Normandy invasion; and

WHEREAS, Hubert F. Comer was listed among the missing, and his body was never recovered; and

WHEREAS, Hubert F. Comer was awarded the American Area Campaign Medal, the European-African-Middle Eastern Area Campaign Medal, and the Purple Heart; and

WHEREAS, it is fitting and appropriate to honor Hubert F. Comer for his service and ultimate sacrifice in that service to the United States of America, the State of Georgia, and Berrien County by the naming of the SR 37 bridge on Cat Creek in honor and memory of his service and sacrifice.

PART XII

WHEREAS, William J. Livsey was born June 8, 1931, at Clarkston, Georgia, where he attended the public schools and there distinguished himself in scholastics and athletics; and

WHEREAS, after graduating from Clarkston High School he attended North Georgia College where he further excelled scholastically and athletically, and he completed the Reserve Officer Training Corps curriculum, graduating in June 1952, whereupon he was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army; and WHEREAS, shortly thereafter, he served as a platoon leader in the Korean War, earning the Silver Star for gallantry in action; and

WHEREAS, he continued to distinguish himself in his military career seeing further combat duty in Viet Nam as Commander of an infantry battalion; rising through every level of command position while serving in the United States and in four subsequent overseas tours, and culminating his career with assignment as Commander in Chief, United Nations Command/Commander in Chief, Combined Forces Command/Commander, United States Forces, Korea/Commanding General, Eighth United States Army; and

WHEREAS, his military education included completion of the Army's Command and General Staff College (where he was first in his class), the Armed Forces Staff College, and the Army War College; and

WHEREAS, awards and decorations received by him also include the Defense Distinguished Service Medal, the Legion of Merit with three Oak Leaf Clusters, the Distinguished Service Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Bronze Star Medal with "V" Device, and the Army Commendation Medal with "V" Device (with two Oak Leaf Clusters); and

WHEREAS, General Livsey retired in 1987 after attaining the rank of four-star General, one of only four Georgians ever to be so recognized by the United States Army; and

WHEREAS, after his retirement General Livsey served the people of our state as a member of the Board of Trustees of North Georgia College and State University, his alma mater; and

WHEREAS, throughout his career of service around the world, General Livsey continually maintained his home in our State of Georgia, residing today at his residence in Fayette County with his wife Bena Sue Burns Livsey, originally of East Point; and

WHEREAS, General Livsey is credited with being among the first, if not the first, to remind us that "Freedom is not Free"; and WHEREAS, the life of unselfish service of General William J. Livsey has been dedicated to securing and preserving the blessing of freedom to the people of the United States of America, bringing honor and pride to his native State of Georgia.

PART XIII

WHEREAS, Sergeant Callahan was born on March 17, 1919, in Taylor County, Georgia to William and Jewell Callahan; and

WHEREAS, Sergeant Callahan graduated from Butler High School and continued his education at Georgia Southwestern College and the University of Georgia Cotton Classification School; and

WHEREAS, he was drafted in 1941, entered the Army, and was assigned to U.S. Army Air Corps, where he was trained as an air traffic controller and stationed at Pacos Army Air Field in Texas; and

WHEREAS, as World War II came to a close Sergeant Callahan was shipped to Madison, Wisconsin to be discharged, and as was the custom there, while waiting for their official discharge soldiers were permitted to go into town each day and earn extra income; on one such day Sergeant Callahan took a construction job and while more than 13 floors up, an act of God caused a gust of wind that blew a sheet of plywood into Sergeant Callahan causing him to fall over the edge of the building to his death; and

WHEREAS, Sergeant Callahan was in uniform and still a soldier in the Army at the time of his accident, and he is believed to be the only fatal casualty in south Taylor County during World War II.

PART XIV
